League Cup, Second Round

YOUR FREE GIFT

ON pages 13 and 14 of this week's issue you will find a further 16 FREE picture portraits for your Match Weekly 'All-Star Album' — eight of them in full colour.

Devised exclusively for Match
readers the All-Star Album gives you the chance to compile a unique booklet of pictures, plus facts and figures about the game's top stars.

The album cover was given away
FREE with our September 19 issue and there are still many more FREE
pictures coming your way.

By now your album should be starting to build up into a super pocket-sized dossier — ideal for taking along to matches to collect autographs.

● Each week you should carefully cut out the page of pictures from Match Weekly.

● Cut across the dotted line and fold each half of the page where indicated.

● Punch holes (where marked) in each folded page (using a compass point or something similar) and insert the pages into your cardboard cover.

● Fix in place by threading pages
into the cover with a piece of string,
a shoelace or a special Treasury Tag (obtainable from stationers).

Or you can simply slip an elastic band over the cover and pages to hold in place.

Just follow the same routine every week . . . have fun.

● If you missed the issue which contained the free cover or any of those issues containing free pictures for the album you can obtain them by writing to our back issues department. The address is contained in the contents panel on this page.

FRONT COVER CAPTION:
Sunderland's Ally McCoist and Arsenal's Willie Young clash at Highbury in the League earlier this season. The match finished 1-1.

OH, NOT

THE League Cup competition hots up next week with the big boys in against the minnows.

And it's real David and Goliath stuff for Third Division Exeter and Fourth Division Sheffield United as they take on First Division
Liverpool and Arsenal.

Meanwhile if it's top of the League action you are looking for there's no more attractive clash than Spurs meeting with Manchester United.

Here Match Weekly turns
the spotlight on the battles ahead . . .

SPURS versus Manchester United
... it's a game guaranteed to bring out the very best in British football.

And when the two First Division
giants are paired together in a Cup match the fans are guaranteed a cracker.

Amazingly the two teams have met three times in the last three seasons — twice in the FA Cup and once in the League Cup.

So it's understandable that Spurs defender Chris Hughton's
initial reaction to the pairing was:
"Oh no! Not again."

"I just didn't believe it when I first heard we'd been drawn together," said the Eire international.

The draw immediately brought back memories of that dramatic FA Cup clash at Old Trafford two seasons ago when ten-man
Tottenham beat United 1-0.

SHEFF. UTD.
v
ARSENAL

JOHN McAlle, Sheffield United's recent signing from Wolves, is on a revenge mission next Tuesday.

The big defender was in the Wolves side beaten 2-0 by Arsenal in the FA Cup semi-finals two years ago, and nothing would give him more pleasure than to help Fourth Division United to a spot of giant-killing.

And John feels United are in with a chance of upsetting the odds: "I think we'll given them a good run
for their money."

"They are not as good a side now
as they were two or three years ago, but they still have several outstanding players."

"I have played against them
several times and have always done fairly well, although in that semi-final they were the better team."

"From a defenders' point of view,
it will be a bit easier without Frank Stapleton in their attack, but Alan Sunderland remains quite a threat."

"It's a great draw for us because it gives our supporters a chance to see a First Division side at Bramall Lane."

"We have got to be confident about winning. The first leg is at home and if we can get a lead then we will have something to work on at Highbury."

The last time Arsenal were at Bramall Lane they walloped
United 5-0 in an FA Cup tie three years ago, and obviously their Yorkshire-born midfielder star
Graham Rix is hoping for a repeat.

"I don't know anything about the current United side, but I shouldn't

McAlle seeks revenge against Arsenal

Sheffield United's John McAlle — looking for revenge against Arsenal.

think it will be quite as easy this time.

"So we have to out-run and out-tackle them, otherwise our supposedly superior skills won't show through."

"I think that's why there are Cup
shocks because the bigger teams
don't always give the little teams
the respect they deserve."

AGAIN!

... but it's a cracker for the fans

SPURS v MAN. UTD.

"It was the most exciting game I've ever played in. Goalkeeper Milija Aleksic was carried off after a clash with Joe Jordan and Glenn Hoddle played in goal.

"Despite being a man down Ossie Ardiles nipped in to score an extra-time winner. The atmosphere that night was unbelievable," added Chris.

And there'll be the same sort of atmosphere at White Hart Lane for the League Cup second round, first leg tie next Wednesday night.

"United always come out and attack, even when they're not playing well, so it should be an exciting game," said Chris.

"Spurs tend to raise their game against the bigger clubs so perhaps it's better that we've drawn United rather than a lower division team," he added.

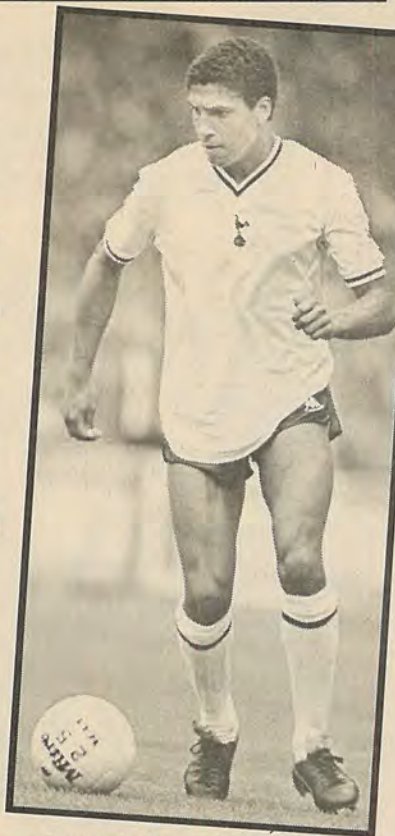

Manchester United's Northern Ireland international Sammy McIlroy admitted that it wasn't the sort of draw he hoped for first time round.

"It's a really tough one, but I always enjoy playing against Spurs," he said.

"They're one of the best Cup teams in the country and by the time this match comes around they should be on top of their form.

"Spurs are such a skilful side and they have a lot of players who can swing it for them," added Sammy.

"We're both attacking sides who like to go forward so it should be a good match for the fans," said Sammy, who's scored twice in the last three Cup meetings between the two sides.

Spurs Ere international Chris Hughton — couldn't believe his club had been paired with United yet again.

LIVERPOOL v EXETER

ACE marksman Tony Kellow hopes little Exeter can rise to the occasion at Anfield next Wednesday to give themselves a chance of glory against European Champions Liverpool in the second leg.

Newcastle and Leicester were both buried at St. James' Park last season as Exeter stormed to the sixth round of the FA Cup where

Liverpool must be confident admits Kells

they were beaten by Tottenham at White Hart Lane.

But Tony, the Football League's leading scorer last season with 33 goals, knows that League Cup holders Liverpool present a far greater challenge to the Third Division side.

"It must be the greatest draw in the club's history to get the European Champions to our ground," says Tony, who was playing with Blackpool when Exeter went down 2-0 at Anfield in the League Cup fourth round nearly two years ago.

"If we can hold them to one or two goals at Anfield then we must have a chance, but if we get crushed then it's virtually all over.

"I think we would have a better chance with a one-off game at home. Playing over two legs against a side like Liverpool is a different kettle of fish.

"Our League form has been Left: Another 'hat-trick' from Exeter's ace scorer Tony Kellow ... and he'd love one against Liverpool next week.

Ton-up Cooke?

EXETER'S Joe Cooke could become the first black player to reach 100 goals in the Football League since Plymouth's Jack Leslie.

Leslie recorded 134 League goals before the last war. Cooke, who joined Exeter from Oxford this season, started the campaign with 80.

A Sunday pay-off

MILLWALL'S experiment with Sunday football has brought increased gates.

Their Third Division clash with Reading attracted a crowd of more than 7,000 which was 60 per cent up on last season's average attendance.

But the 1-0 defeat for Millwall brought nothing but frustration for one young man who ran on the pitch during the game, collected the ball, raced past startled defenders and crashed it into the Reading net.

Bond's attacking

YOU can never keep flamboyant Manchester City manager John Bond out of the headlines.

He claims the new three points for a win rule won't make the slightest difference because more than half of the First Division managers are negative. "Without doubt the key to attacking football is the attitude of the managers... more time should be spent getting them tuned into thinking more positively and developing attacking attitudes," he says.

"I'm not much in favour of fiddling about with the rules and

It seems that no part of the world is too remote to find Liverpool supporters.

Ups and downs

DUTCHMAN Heinne Otto made a strange start to his career with Middlesbrough.

He scored on his debut in the 3-1 home defeat by Tottenham on the first day of the season, then a week later he put through his own goal in the 2-0 reverse at Brighton, and then the following Saturday he scored at the right end as 'Boro beat Birmingham.

regulations. I suppose it'll make a difference for a couple of months . . . but come Christmas there won't be any significant difference.

"As Brian Clough said to me recently, 'Why get worried about it all . . . you'll get the sack one day.'"

ALL STARS AND STRIPES ELEVEN

THREE Englishmen have been named in the 1981 North American League's 'All Star' team — selected by players.

They are Bolton striker Brian Kidd (Atlanta), former Manchester United winger Gordon Hill (Montreal) and ex-Tottenham defender John Gorman (Tampa Bay).

The full team: Jan van Beveren (Ford Lauderdale); Wim Rijsbergen (New York), Frantz Mathieu (Chicago), Peter Nogly (Edmonton), Gorman; Teofilo Cubillas (Fort Lauderdale), Vladislav Bogicevic (New York), Arno Steffenhagen (Chicago); Giorgio Chinaglia (New York), Kidd, Hill.

English players included in the second team were Manchester City defender Kevin Bond (Seattle), former Leeds winger Peter Lorimer (Vancouver), former Chelsea midfield star Alan Hudson (Seattle) and ex-Irish wizard George Best (San Jose).

Ipswich defender Kevin Beattie . . . recovering from a fifth knee operation.

BEATTIE

...bouncing back

DON'T write off Ipswich Town's unlucky defender Kevin Beattie.

He plans to come bouncing back from yet another setback to bid for a place in the Ipswich side.

The former England man is now recovering from his fifth operation on the knee that has plagued him for past few seasons.

"The knee blew up in pre-season training due to the hard grounds and I've been in for a minor operation to remove a few foreign bodies," says Kevin, who has only recently recovered from a broken arm sustained in last season's FA Cup semi-final against Manchester City.

"I was hoping to be fit for the start of the season for the first time in years, but it was not to be.

"However, I'm hoping to be back in action again within the next few weeks."

Ipswich, who have made a good start to the season, would be further bolstered by the presence of the tough-tackling, versatile defender in their squad.

Black-out!

DERBY goalkeeper Roger Jones 'blacked out' TV coverage of his side's 3-1 victory over Leicester.

ATV cameras were at the Baseball Ground to cover the Midland derby in the Second Division when it was discovered that Jones was wearing a jersey bearing the name of the club sponsors.

It was too late for him to change and so the match was dropped from the screens because he was contravening the advertising laws.

Commented ATV's head of sport, Gary Newbon: "It was a genuine mistake. Someone had laid the wrong kit out for the goalkeeper."

● FORMER Orient defender Paul Went has been appointed manager of the club.

Paul, who also played for Charlton, Fulham and Cardiff, has been caretaker manager at Brisbane Road since the resignation of Jimmy Bloomfield in August.

Derby goalkeeper Roger Jones — caused a TV blackout.

McQueen's design for a new T-shirt. . . .

'Garry's been under so much pressure . . . but I'm glad he took it in his stride. A lesser man would have cracked.'

I SAW

GARRY Birtles shocked and amazed us at Old Trafford against Swansea . . . he scored a goal!

After a year without netting in the League our £1m striker finally broke his duck and became the victim of our wise cracks.

Gordon McQueen has told him that he's going to have a 'T'-shirt designed with 'I saw Garry Birtles score for Manchester United' emblazoned across the front.

And skipper Martin Buchan added to the mirth by telling him that he's spoilt the Old Trafford fans. They'll expect a goal every year!

Garry's had to put up with that sort of leg-pulling ever since he arrived from Nottingham Forest last season.

He's been under so much pressure . . . but I'm glad to report he took it all in his stride. A lesser man would have cracked under the strain.

Now that he's broken the ice I expect the floodgates to open and I now he'll score plenty of goals this season. In the very next match at Middlesbrough he was on the mark again!

There's no doubt his goal drought became a mental thing. When he found himself in scoring positions he tended to freeze.

He was always top scorer in training sessions but, as Saturday approached, he seemed to tighten up and worry.

New striker Frank Stapleton should also take some credit for helping Garry through his barren spell.

When Joe Jordan was at Old Trafford he tended to overshadow Garry. He was the leader on the field, the dominant personality and the favourite of the fans.

I mean no disrespect to Frank when I say he isn't such a forceful personality as our former Scottish international.

It's just that our new front pairing work more in unison.

Talking of Frank it's great to see that he's settled in so quickly. No-one here doubted he would.

Although he plays a similar role as Joe used to, I believe Frank will score a lot more goals. He's got a nose for chances.

The latest arrival at Old Trafford is England Under-21 international Remi Moses — and he's challenging little Lou Macari for the 'smallest man at Old Trafford'

Despite his size — or lack of it — Remi has shown himself to be a real tiger in the tackle.

The former West Brom star is a determined little fellow and goes in where others wouldn't dare.

Remi came on as sub for Sammy McIlroy during our first win of the season against Swansea and I was impressed how quickly he settled
in.

That win against Swansea was a very welcome one because we'd made a spluttering start to the season.

'Now Garry's broken

And we'll be hoping to pick up another three points on Saturday when we entertain Wolves. But they're a side we always seem to struggle against and I can't put my finger on the reason why.

Last season they played a funny sort of game, because with two big forwards in the mould of John Richards and Andy Gray you'd expect them to play a winger who can cross the ball.

But most of their goals came from players cutting through the middle and they didn't utilise the full potential of their front men.

However the acquisition of Alan Birch from Chesterfield should solve that and I expect to see him providing the crosses for the striking duo.

I'll also be meeting up with my old friend Joe Gallagher. The Wolves centre-half and I played in the same Liverpool primary school team when I was 11.

BATTLER MOSES HAS A JOB TO DO AT UNITED

Put the bite in, Remi

ABOVE: England Under-21 international Remi Moses — he's been ordered to put some bite into Manchester United's midfield.

RIGHT: Manchester United's Lou Macari — "I don't have his skills," says Remi.

REMI Moses has been told to put bite into Manchester United's classy midfield.

The England Under-21 international signed for his former West Brom boss Ron Atkinson and admitted: "I don't have the skills of players like Lou Macari or Ray Wilkins."

"But the manager has bought me to do a specific job — winning the ball in midfield — and that's what I'm good at."

It took the new United manager just a handful of matches in charge to realise the need for a midfield battler and he lost no time in approaching his old club for Remi.

He was on a weekly contract at 'The Hawthorns' and had no hesitation in signing for his boyhood heroes.

The Manchester-born youngster explained: "I used to be a 'Stretford Ender' and all my family and friends are United supporters."

"As soon as I knew that United were interested in me no-one else figured. It's like a dream come true for me."

Remi, who played 63 League games for Albion, was one of the discoveries of last season and helped his old club to a UEFA Cup place.

But even though he has joined up with his former manager, Remi admits to feeling nervous during his first few days at Old Trafford.

"The manager has bought me to do a specific job — winning the ball in midfield — and that's what I'm good at"

"It's all a bit awe-inspiring for me at the moment," he said.

"But I hope to build up a good rapport with the United fans because I think they'll like my style of play — I never give less than 100 per cent."

And certainly, judging from his first two games with United, the team have benefitted from his midfield presence.

He made his debut when he came on as a substitute for Sammy McIlroy and Old Trafford against Swansea and the team scored their first win of the season.

Just three days later he played a full game against Middlesbrough and helped his team to a 2-0 victory.

But Remi will have mixed memories of his second game in United's colours for he gave away a penalty! Luckily for him Gary Bailey saved it.

Looking back on the later stages of his time at Albion, Remi admits: "I wasn't enjoying my last few matches at West Brom because there were so many hassles about me leaving the club."

"Now all that's behind me. All I want to do now is to concentrate on playing for Manchester United."

Remi was discovered by West Brom while he was playing for a Manchester club side.

At the time former Eire international Johnny Giles was in charge at the Hawthorns and Remi moved outside his native Manchester to establish himself.

"I thought that Johnny was the sort of person who could put me on the road to becoming a good player," said Remi.

His rise to the top has been meteoric. He made his debut against Crystal Palace in January 1980 and missed just one League game before his departure to United.

And he was capped at England Under-21 level after playing just 23 competitive games for West Brom.

TONY TAMES THE FOREST

GOLDEN GOAL

Tony Evans (Birmingham) v Nott'm
Forest, Division One, St Andrew's, Sat.,
Sept. 5, 1981.

IF Tony Evans wanted a moment to keep himself in the spotlight at Birmingham then it surely arrived with his 39th minute goal in the thrilling 4-3 defeat of Nottingham Forest.

The former Cardiff striker, who is attempting to establish himself in the Birmingham attack amid all the new signings, produced the ideal finish to a patient build-up to put the 'Blues' 2-1 up.

"I was involved twice in the move," says Tony. "I headed the ball down to Kevin Dillon after David Langan had chipped it in to the edge of the penalty area.

"Kevin laid it across to Mark Dennis who crossed a great ball towards the area where I saw Neil Whatmore challenging for it with Stuart Gray.

"I made a square run across the box to support Neil because at first I thought it was going to go over his head.

"But he got a nice touch on the ball as I ran into the box and I managed to bring it under control before hooking it past Peter Shilton as I fell.

"There was never any chance of me hitting the ball first time as it dropped because I was stretching and off balance.

"I could see Shilton in my line of sight as I knocked the ball forward, and I just clipped it across the face of the goal and into the far corner.

"It was probably the most satisfying goal I've scored for Birmingham particularly from the build-up point of view."

● Golden goalscorer Tony Evans — produced the ideal finish.

spotlight on early Second Division front
runners
Sheffield
Wednesday and their bid
for the
First Division

● Mark Smith . . . hopes to lead home town club
Sheffield Wednesday back into the First Division.

It's time to repay the fans

SHEFFIELD Wednesday are on the brink of
something big.

That's the view of England Under-21
defender Mark Smith who hopes to lead his home town club back into the First Division after a six-year absence.

"The lads are very confident that this is going to be our year, and three successive wins at the start of the season gave us an extra boost," he says.

"We've got a fairly young
side and we have learned from the experiences of
last season, which was
our first back in the Second Division.

"At one time we looked promotion
candidates but fell away to finish tenth mainly

because of our away form.

"We picked up only ten points away from home
because we tended to attack
too much.

"We are still playing attacking football as seen by our 3-0 win at Luton, but we are getting more men behind the ball when we're not in possession."

Mark believes the close season signings of Gary Megson from Everton and Gary Bannister from Coventry could be the final pieces of the jigsaw.

"Gary Bannister has a lot of pace and confidence to complement Terry Curran.

"Now, while defences are wary of Terry's ability, Gary tends to have more freedom
than he might expect.

"The other Gary has injected some steel into midfield which we were lacking last season."

Mark feels Sheffield needs a First Division club.

"Our supporters have been out of this world and it's time
we repaid their support with some success.

"They have been very
patient during our lean years
and it would be nice to give them the chance next season
of seeing the top teams in the country at Hillsborough.

"There's certainly the potential here for First Division football with crowds of more than 30,000 a possibility.

"But we know we face a
tough fight with teams like
Chelsea, Queen's Park
Rangers and Luton expected to be among the front
runners.

"Although the players are the ones who do it on the field, manager Jack Charlton must take most of the credit.

"He has taken the club by the scruff of the neck."

Spurs early-season headline-grabber Mark Falco talks to Match and warns

Crooks must fight for his place!

Right: Mark Falco on the ball during his dazzling two-goal display in the Charity Shield at Wembley.

● Right: Spurs striker Garth Crooks — his injury opened the door for Mark Falco.

SPURS Wembley wonder Mark Falco is determined to make Garth Crooks fight all the way to regain his first team place.

The 20-year-old reserve exploded on to the scene when he scored two goals in the Charity Shield game against Aston Villa at the beginning of the season.

And he proved that performance was no fluke with two goals against Ajax in the European Cup-winners Cup and one in the League against Middlesbrough to make it five in just eight games.

Mark was given his big chance when Garth Crooks was sidelined with a cartilage injury at the start of the season.

"Now it's up to me to keep scoring goals and make sure that I stay in the first team," said Mark.

"I'm really enjoying life in the team and that's made me even more determined to fight for my place.

Good players

"It's been easier than I expected in the First Division, but much of the credit must go to the other lads in the team who've helped me to settle down.

"Playing with so many good players around you has got to help and I'm sure that my game has benefited," said Mark.

Before this season started Mark had played in only 13 League games — just three of those last term.

"Steve Archibald and Garth Crooks played so well last season that I didn't get a look in and I expected to start the new campaign in the reserves."

Mark was doubtful for the Charity Shield game against Villa and only played after intensive week-long treatment on a foot injury.

"My first goal in that game must rank as my best so far," he said.

"I hit the ball on the edge of the box with my right foot after a lovely pass from Ossie Ardiles. It meant all the more to me because I'm a natural left footer."

Mark also showed that he could adapt to the hurly burly atmosphere of European competition when he scored on his debut against Bolton in the 1978-79 season.

"It was a horrible night at Burnden Park," recalls Mark. "It was raining and really murky."

"But I made it a night to remember for me personally when I hit an Ardiles pass with my left foot and scored from the edge of the 18-yard box."

Mark, a life-long Spurs supporter, was spotted by the club's chief scout Dickie Walker while he was playing centre forward for his school, South Hackney.

He signed schoolboy forms when he was 14 and made his debut at 17.

Now Mark faces one of the biggest challenges of his career, but he feels no extra pressure on his young shoulders . . .

"All I can do is my best," he says.

NEXT WEEK: New West Brom signing Andy King talks to Match and admits: "I was silly to leave Everton for the Second Division."

BRIGHTON TO

BRIGHTON striker Michael Robinson gets the chance to put one over his old club with the visit of Manchester City to the Goldstone Ground on Saturday.

The 'Seagulls' last home match ended in a 2-2 draw with Coventry — Michael getting the first of Brighton's goals.

Meanwhile City's last away match saw them lose their unbeaten record at the hands of Birmingham and a Tony Evans hat-trick.

And I fancy John Bond's men could be facing their second away defeat of the season down on the south coast this weekend.

First Division newcomers Notts County meanwhile will be looking to make up for their last home defeat — 4-1 at the hands of title favourites Ipswich — when they take on Arsenal at Meadow Lane. I believe they can.

I have forecast a result for both those matches and eight others from up and down the country.

And if you can beat me at my own game you can win £5.

My special guest opponent this week is 15-year-old Robert Worrall of Alconbury Weston, Cambs.

You can see his predictions alongside mine in the special panel.

If you would like the chance to see your predictions in print just send in your name, age and address — together with a black and white photograph of yourself — and most importantly your home telephone number.

All the entries we receive are being kept in a special file and each week one lucky reader is picked to compete against me in the magazine — with the chance of winning £5 if he or she scores more points than me.

Send your entries to: Stratton on Saturday, Match Weekly, Stirling House, Bretton Court, Bretton, Peterborough.

● Bad luck to my fourth opponent of the season, Steven Bell of Edinburgh, who lost seven points to five on Saturday, September 19.

Pictured above is my special guest opponent this week — Robert Worrall. He supports Fourth Division Aldershot and his favourite players are Aldershot's Les Briley and Aston Villa's Gary Shaw.

'My Nightmare is over'

MY injury nightmare is over.

For a while now I've been worried about a nagging achilles tendon problem.

But I've now been told by a top specialist that there is no danger of serious damage, so I can play on without that mental worry.

The injury is like a persistent toothache. It in no way restricts my movements, but I've faced the fear of it breaking down completely and forcing me out of football for several months.

This comforting assurance and the fact that I can now train and play on a regular basis should enable me to recover my best form and sharpness.

I know that I've got to play on in some pain from the injury but, hopefully, a course of treatment, interspersed with playing and training, should eventually clear it up.

Apart from the fact that I failed to score in the first five League games, I've never been satisfied with my performances.

I can't say that I'm worried about the lack of goals because the days are over when teams relied solely on two strikers to hit the back of the net.

At Ipswich all our players are capable of scoring goals, so as long as we maintain our good start to the season, I won't be too despondent.

I think people like Alan Brazil and John Wark would be the first to admit that I've been creating some chances for them this season, and the manager has no complaints.

From the team point of view, we put our game together for the first time in the 4-1 win at Notts County.

I know we toppled European champions Liverpool the previous week, but I feel that we were somewhat fortunate to take three points in that game.

I've been surprised by the starts of promoted West Ham and Swansea. I did forecast a few weeks back that West Ham would do well this season because they were a different class in Division Two last term, but I never expected them to top the table.

And John Toshack has obviously done a good job at Swansea in getting his team into shape.

Next week we are involved in the second round of the League Cup against First Division rivals Leeds.

We face a trip to Elland Road in the first leg and I'm glad the tie is being decided over two matches because Leeds are a bit of a bogey side to us at Elland Road.

Towards the end of last season they dented our title bid with a 3-0 victory and Allan Clarke did a tremendous job in hauling the club up the table.

But over two legs I must fancy our chances of making progress in the competition because we have had plenty of experience in two-leg affairs during our European travels over the past few seasons.

● Footnote: We had quite an unusual ride to the Notts County ground from our hotel. Our new bus, which is a bit colourful to say the least, was vandalised overnight with a big boulder being thrown through the windscreen.

It couldn't be fixed in time for our ten minute journey to Meadow Lane and so the manager booked a fleet of taxis.

You should have seen the faces of our fans when we jumped out of the taxis on our arrival at the main entrance!

See you again in a fortnight...

THE CAPTAINS

Continuing our fascinating series on the men who lead their team mates out on a Saturday afternoon.

THIRD IN LINE!

... but STEVE FOSTER'S not scared of bullying his team-mates.

BRIGHTON defender Steve Foster wasn't the club's original choice as skipper... he was third in the line!

Before the season started Brian Horton, who led 'Seagulls' to the First Division in 1979, was expected to carry on the captaincy.

But his surprise move to Second Division promotion favourites Luton created a chance for Eire international Mark Lawrenson and he took charge for a couple of pre-season friendlies.

Mark didn't keep the job long because he too found himself on his way from the Goldstone Ground when Liverpool manager Bob Paisley parted with £900,000 to take him to Anfield.

So new manager Mike Bailey found himself looking for another leader and he had no hesitation in choosing 23-year-old Steve.

"Mike's decision to make me skipper came right out of the blue — I'd never even thought about leading the team before," said Steve.

"But it's a great honour and I'm really enjoying the job."

Steve made his League debut as Brighton captain in the opening game of the season — a 1-1 draw at newly promoted West Ham.

"I suppose I play in the ideal position for a captain. Being a defender means that you see more of the game and can tell where things are going right or wrong."

"I see my role as putting over what the manager wants on the field. It's my job to make sure each player does what he has been told to," said Steve.

"I'm a bit of a moaner on the field," he admits: "I've always had a reputation for letting the players know my feelings."

"Part of my game is talking and if things are going wrong I'm not scared of bullying my team-mates," he said.

And even though Steve is bossing around players, some of whom are many years his senior, he has no fears about his new role.

"The lads have been tremendous. They've just knuckled down and done what I've told them."

Now Steve knows what his old skipper Brian Horton must have felt like when players turned up late for training.

"It is my job to make sure that the players are punctual — the boot is on the other foot!"

Steve hopes that his first season as skipper of the side will see Brighton firmly establish themselves in the First Division.

They struggled for their First Division lives last season and only stayed up when they won their final game of the season 2-0.

But this season, after a solid start to the campaign, the Goldstone Ground faithful have renewed hope for the future.

Manager Mike Bailey hasn't been slow in the transfer market, bringing in Jimmy Case from Liverpool, Eire international Tony Grealish from Luton and Arsenal's Steve Gattling.

"I think we can do really well this season. We've made a good start and I'm sure we can build on it," said Steve.

ABOVE: Eire international Mark Lawrenson. He was made captain of Brighton before his move to Liverpool.

THE new season certainly got off to a flying start with excitement and goals all the way. Just how much the new three points for a win system was responsible is difficult to say, but here's a selection of your views...

SEND your jokes to Match Weekly, Stirling House, Bretton, Peterborough PE3 8DJ. We'll pay £2 for every joke published.

IT'S FUN TIME

● FOOTBALLER to doctor: "Please help me - I keep thinking I'm a pair of scissors." Doctor: "Cut it out!" Steven Potts (10), Fulwell, Sunderland.

● WHY IS a football pitch always wet? Because the players dribble a lot! Adrian Hillman, Melksham, Wilts.

FOOTBALL CRAZY

by MITCH

3 POINTS

... the for and

Wise move

THE Football League has made a wise and positive move and it should make teams battle more fiercely for points and means supporters get their money's worth.

Philip Martin (14), Llay, N. Wales.

Award two points for a draw

IT may prove a good step towards providing more entertaining football, but an extra point could be awarded for a score draw of 2-2 or more to encourage an even more exciting game.

I went to see Grimsby v Leicester and the football was not far off matching First Division stuff because of the will to win.

But let's have two points for a high-scoring draw. Martin Lowther (15), Hartburn, Cleveland.

Points for goals

I DISAGREE with the new system. Ipswich and Sunderland drew 3-3 but only got one point each, whereas a team can score one goal and get three points.

A point for each goal would be much better. Geoffrey Wessell, Paulton, Avon.

System will backfire

I don't like the three points for a win system. I support Preston North End and recently watched them play Portsmouth at Deepdale.

In the later stages of the game, when North End were leading 1-0, they produced defensive tactics so they didn't lose out on three points and have to make do with one point for a draw.

It should have been obvious that this plan to produce more goals would backfire in this way.

It just proves manager Tommy Docherty right for saying that it is a change for change's sake. Martin Rowe, Ribbleson, Lancs.

Arsenal champions... Forest relegated!

IF the English League system was organised like the Scottish (i.e. the top ten teams form a Premier Division), Arsenal would have been champions because their record against the other nine was far superior.

Moreover, Ipswich, so nearly last season's title winners, would only have avoided relegation on goal difference...

Mark Hickson, Tunbridge Wells, Kent.

Bargain Stapleton

MAN. Utd really got a bargain when they paid out £900,000 for Eire international striker Frank Stapleton.

When you consider that players like Justin Fashanu (Forest) cost £1m, Frank must be the bargain of all time. There's no doubt he's the best around.

Andy Symeou, Kingsbury, London.

PREDICTIONS

AND here are some more of your predictions for this season...

FA Cup — Manchester United; League Cup — Spurs; Champions (Division One) — Ipswich; Champions (Division Two) — Norwich.

Simon Popple, Sutton Coldfield, W. Midlands.

Division One — Ipswich; Division Two — Chelsea; Division Three — Exeter; Division Four — Torquay; FA Cup — Aston Villa; League Cup — Liverpool; Scottish Premier — Celtic.

Robert Ashton, Bideford, Devon.

Division One — Manchester United; relegated — Wolves, Brighton, Notts County; Division Two (promoted) Luton, Q.P.R., Blackburn; relegated Wrexham, Leicester, Charlton.

Michael Offless (11), Bradford, Yorks.

FOR A WIN

against

Clarke wrong to condemn new system

LAST season everyone was saying what a good idea it would be to have three points for a win, but now many managers, including Allan Clarke and Alan Durban, have condemned it saying it could lead to teams defending even more when they get a one goal lead.

It annoys me because it seems to me that it is people like Mr

Clarke and Mr Durban who have helped to put the game into its present state.

How can they condemn a new idea like this when they helped make their two teams — Leeds and Stoke — into the most defensive, boring teams in the League.

Mark Race, Ripon, Yorks.

Best of British

HERE'S my Great Britain team to beat any others: Joe Corrigan (Man. City), Viv Anderson (Forest), Kenny Sansom (Arsenal), Phil Thompson (Liverpool), Gordon McQueen (Man. Utd.), Liam Brady (Juventus), Kevin Keegan (Southampton), Kenny Dalglish (Liverpool), Steve Archibald, Glenn Hoddle (Spurs), John Robertson (Forest). Manager Bobby Robson (Ipswich).

Paul Barry (13), Cork, Ireland.

Bigger goals?

THE game should be made more entertaining by making the goals bigger by one foot in every direction and banishing the off-side rule.

One point should be awarded for a draw, two points if the winning side only scores one goal and three points if the victorious side gets two or more goals.

We should also have a limit on transfer fees.

James Kinmont (11), Bristol.

Dream day at The Dell

DURING the summer holidays my friends and myself went to The Dell to get some autographs, but we arrived to find the players were not there.

As we started walking away we saw Alan Ball drive in to the car park so we ran back to get his autograph and he asked us if we wanted to go to the training ground.

He gave us a lift and helped us get autographs of all the players and pictures of them, too.

It was the best day of my life.

Stephen Morrison, Harefield, Southampton.

OUTRAGED!

OUTRAGED at something concerning soccer? Then write and tell us about it.

But remember, you risk the wrath of the Match referee.

If he disagrees with your point of view you may be booked or worse still sent off.

Just to soften the blow, a person who gets his marching orders wins £5 and those whose names are taken get £2.

See a Doctor!

I'M outraged about what you said when Anthony Williams of Liss, Hants, said that Leeds would finish in the top six. You said Leeds might get into the top six for relegation.

Leeds will be one of the best teams in the country this season and qualify for Europe and I suggest you see a doctor soon. Trevor Stewart (16), Tobermore, N. Ireland.

● Coventry 4 Leeds 0, Swansea 5 Leeds 1, Man. City 4 Leeds 0, third from bottom after five games and the only team they managed to beat was Wolves. You are sent off!

Axe McLeish!

I'M outraged that Alex McLeish and Willie Miller are still picked for Scotland. Jock Stein need look no further than Gordon McQueen and Martin Buchan and he's got the best centre backs in Europe.

Philip Jones (12), Croydon, Surrey.

● Perhaps Jock Stein wants to continue winning matches. I haven't noticed too much wrong with Scotland's defence lately and see no reason at all why he should go searching round the teams near the bottom of the First Division for replacements. You are booked.

Mills a mistake!

I'M outraged that Mick Mills still plays for England. He never plays well and is always making fatal mistakes which lose us the game. I reckon Graham Roberts of Spurs should replace him.

Renzo and Nicky Cecece, Enfield, Middlesex.

● I don't believe it! Mick Mills is one of the most dependable defenders around and he always gives his all for his country. Graham Roberts doesn't even play in the same position as Mick and the Spurs defence is not the safest in the world. You're booked.

'Foreigners' out!

I'M outraged that players should be allowed to play for their country's international team if they play for a club outside their home country.

If only home based players played for the international team then it would give more of an indication how good the League was in that particular country.

Tommy Johnstone, Garelochhead, Scotland.

● It would leave Scotland in a mess without the likes of Dalglish, Robertson, Archibald, Souness, Hansen, Burns and Stewart who all play in England! You're booked.

McQueen can't kick

I'M outraged that Gordon McQueen and Willie Young are regarded as two of the best central defenders in Britain. They are two of the worst players I have ever seen.

McQueen is terrible under pressure and can't kick straight and Young is plain clumsy.

Sunderland have THREE of the best in Shaun Elliot, Jeff Clarke and Rob Hindmarch.

Mark Walsh (13), Doxford Park, Sunderland.

● If they are that good they wouldn't be playing for Sunderland Mark! What about Osman, Butcher, Thompson, Hansen, O'Leary and the rest?

Greenwood mad to pick Robson

I'M outraged at Bryan Robson being valued at £2 million. He is a mediocre midfielder who once in a blue moon plays a world class game. He was rubbish against Norway and his goal was a clear hand-ball. Ron Greenwood was mad to pick him for the match.

Paul Murray, Newtownards, N. Ireland.

● On the subject of rubbish that's what you are talking. If everyone in the England team had shown the same commitment as Bryan in Norway we would have thrashed the pants off them. If Ron Greenwood wants your advice he'll ask for it . . . but don't expect any calls. You are booked.

ENGLAND'S hopes of reaching the World Cup Finals in Spain next year receded even further when their main rivals, Rumania and Hungary, locked themselves up in a goalless stalemate in Bucharest last week.

It was the one result England didn't want. A decisive result either way would have given Ron Greenwood's side a more realistic chance of making amends for the Norwegian disaster.

But all is not lost... While England must rely solely on the efforts of Switzerland and Norway to give them any hope of qualifying, anything can — and does — happen in football.

Setback

Who is to say that the Swiss, who did so much damage to England's hopes with a 2-1 victory in Basle, cannot now do Ron Greenwood's men a favour with players of the calibre of Botteron, Sulser and Barberis.

But while England were mourning yet another setback, Wales were given new hope in their bid to reach the finals.

Czechoslovakia, who inflicted Wales' first defeat, could only draw against Iceland in Reykjavik last week — scene of a 4-0 triumph for Wales.

If the Czechs lose in Russia later this month and Wales beat Iceland

Now England depend on the Swiss

.... but Welsh hopes are boosted convincingly in Swansea, then Wales could qualify on goal difference without worrying about taking a point from their final match in Russia.

While Wales were edged off the top of Group Three with that result in Iceland, England continue to lead Group Four.

But both Rumania and Hungary can assure their places in the Finals before the Wembley showdown between England and Hungary next month.

To make that final match purely academic, Rumania still need three points from their two games against Switzerland, and Hungary maximum points from their home clashes with Norway and Switzerland.

Should Hungary drop a point, then England could qualify on goal difference by winning at Wembley.

If Rumania were to lose one of their games, then they could be edged out on goal difference by England if Hungary were to collect maximum points before their final match.

But all in all it looks a bleak situation for England, with our World Cup destiny lying in the hands of tiny Norway and Switzerland.

HOW THEY STAND

GROUP FOUR

	P	W	D	L	F	A	Pts
ENGLAND	7	3	1	3	12	8	7
Rumania	6	2	3	1	4	3	7
Hungary	5	2	2	1	6	6	6
Norway	7	2	2	3	7	11	6
Switzerland	5	1	2	2	7	8	4

To play: Rumania v Switzerland (Oct. 10); Hungary v Switzerland (Oct. 14); Hungary v Norway (Oct. 31); Switzerland v Rumania (Nov. 11); ENGLAND v Hungary (Nov. 18).

Happier times for the England players as Liverpool's Terry McDermott (centre) is congratulated after scoring against Norway in the 4-0 victory at Wembley in September 1980.

THAT WAS THE WEEK THAT WAS

Oct
3-9

SEVEN years ago this week (Oct. 5) Wales manager Mike England scored a hat-trick in Tottenham's First Division clash with Burnley.

Nothing unusual about that you might say — even though big Mike was playing at centre half.

But the fact is that two of the goals went past his own goalkeeper and he also managed to put one in the right end as Spurs went down 3-2.

Other significant happenings during this week over the past few years:

- Oct. 3, 1974 — Dave Sexton and Benny Fenton are sacked by London clubs Chelsea and Millwall respectively; 1977 — Peter Ward (Brighton), Clive Woods (Norwich) and Trevor Whymark (Ipswich) are included in England squad for the first time; 1979 — Liverpool beaten in first round of European Cup for second successive year, this time by Dynamo Tbilisi.

- Oct. 4, 1972 — Jeff Blockley joins Arsenal from Coventry for £200,000; 1974 — Jimmy Armfield appointed manager of Leeds; 1975 — Pat Jennings establishes new appearance record for Tottenham with 419th game; 1976 — Fulham's Bobby Moore sent off in League Cup tie with Bolton.

- Oct. 6, 1975 — Sheffield United sack manager Ken Furphy leaving both Sheffield clubs managerless; 1976 — Wales lost 2-0 at home to West Germany in Centenary international.

- Oct. 7, 1974 — Ian Greaves appointed manager of Bolton; 1980 — Tommy Docherty sacked as manager of Q.P.R.

- Oct. 8, 1977 — Jack Charlton appointed manager of Sheffield Wednesday, and Bob Latchford scores four in Everton's 5-1 win at Q.P.R.; 1980 — Iain Munro joins Stoke from St. Mirren for £150,000.

Wales manager Mike England — scored a hat-trick he won't want to remember seven years ago this week.

... but it's champagne

FROM the heights of European Cup victory with Liverpool to the depths of depression and defeat in Argentina... all in the space of a month!

That's how I saw the summer of 1978.

It started so well with me picking up my first major honour and ended in Scottish disgrace after the World Cup debacle.

I made my European Cup debut against Borussia Moenchengladbach in the semi-final, first leg, in West Germany when I came on as substitute for Terry McDermott.

We were 1-0 down at the time, but David Johnson equalised and it looked as if we might come away with a draw until the last minute of the match.

Then West German international Rainer Bonhoff curled a free kick past Ray Clemence to make it 2-1.

We beat them 3-0 in the return at Anfield thanks to goals from Ray Kennedy, Kenny Dalglish and Jimmy Case and after just five months as a Liverpool player I found myself at Wembley in the final of one of the World's top tournaments.

It seemed a million miles away from Middlesbrough as I stepped on to the Wembley turf that warm May evening with my Liverpool team-mates.

The whole occasion is such a blur now — everything flashed by so quickly. But I do remember we were supremely confident as we lined up against Belgium's FC Bruges.

After all, we were virtually playing at home and there were more than 80,000 fervent fans cheering us on.

The final wasn't a classic and we dominated the full 90 minutes without really playing well.

The Belgians sat back hoping to hit us on the break so they didn't encourage a good game.

Kenny Dalglish made sure that the cup stayed in Liverpool for a second year with the only goal of the match... and the champagne celebrations started.

Champagne

I remember jumping into a taxi at five in the morning and travelling across London to my parents' hotel. I was so keen for them to see my medal.

I took up a couple of bottles of champagne and we sat talking over my night of triumph.

But a couple of weeks later came the despair of Argentina.

No-one could have predicted what was to happen as the Scottish party boarded the plane for Cordoba.

It's a Scottish trait to think we're better than we really are and the media contributed by building us up and giving us a chance of reaching the final.

We didn't believe we could lose our Group Four opener against Peru.

I watched from the sidelines as Joe Jordan got us off to a glorious start with a goal in the 14th minute.

But then disaster struck! They equalised just before half-time and went on to win 3-1.

Morale was terrible after that defeat.

Everyone had expected to beat Peru.

But it was doubly worse after we failed against no-hopers Iran. It needed an own goal by one of their players to give us a 1-1 draw.

Stories started appearing in the press about discontent in the Scottish camp and then Willie Graeme Souness in action for Scotland against Holland during the last World Cup finals.

DISGRACE

all the way with Liverpool

Johnston got sent home for taking a banned drug.

All the publicity was terribly upsetting. I just tried to keep out of the way of it all.

I didn't play in the first two games, but manager Ally MacLeod picked me for our final group game against Holland.

After all the bad press the lads were straining at the bit and determined to do well and we ran out 3-2 winners with two goals from Archie Gemmill and one from Kenny Dalglish.

I got a lot of credit after that performance, but it was praise I didn't think I deserved. It was a team performance.

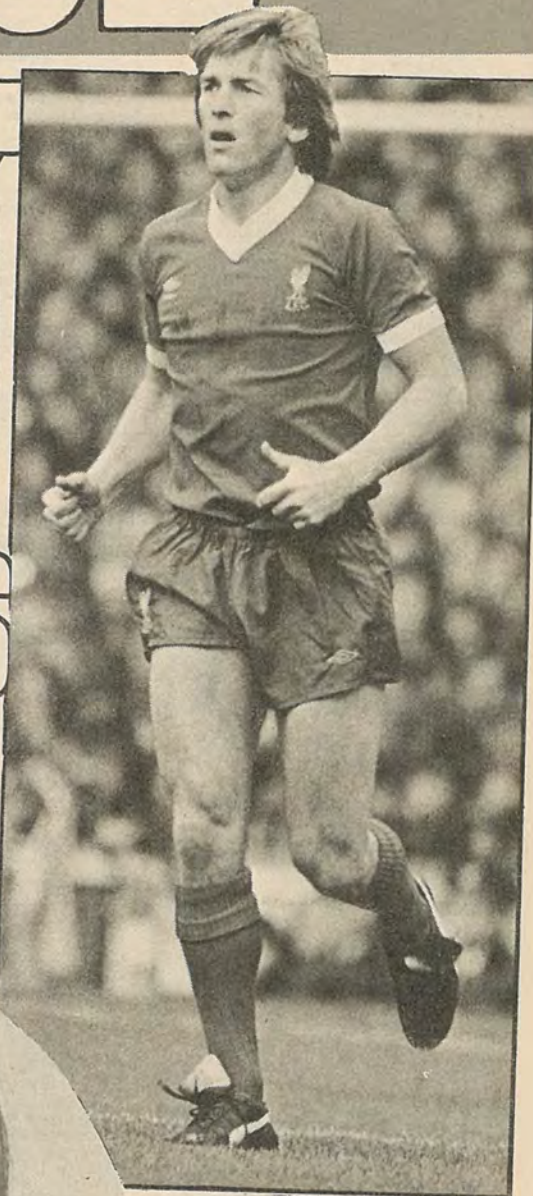

The win didn't stop us being dumped out of the competition, however, and on his return to Scotland Ally MacLeod was out of a job after he resigned.

● Graeme Souness was talking to Anthony Hawkswell.

32 MATCH WEEKLY

The council painter who became a soccer hero at the age of 27

PAINTING THE TOWN red!

Archie Stephens celebrates his League debut with the first of his two goals against Burnley at Eastville.

Bristol Rovers' striker Archie Stephens . . . given a chance at the age of 27.

Allardyce at the Den

● FORMER Sunderland defender Sam Allardyce has joined Millwall's fight for promotion from Division Three.

The powerful former Bolton skipper, out of favour most of last season, has moved south for £90,000.

Millwall player-manager Peter Anderson has recouped some of the outlay by selling defender John Sitton to Gillingham for £10,000.

Ronnie's boy at Boston

● RUSS ALLEN, son of West Brom manager Ronnie, has drifted out of the Football League after spells with Tranmere and Mansfield. He has joined Alliance Premier club Boston United after being released by Fourth Division Mansfield.

FUNNELL GOES BACK SOUTH

● STRIKER Tony Funnell has returned to the south coast after spells inland at Gillingham and Brentford. Tony, who started his career with Southampton, has joined Fourth Division Bournemouth from Brentford for £5,000. And he made a fine start to his new career with a goal on his debut in the 1-1 draw at Halifax.

LEN'S REWARD

● LEN ASHURST, manager of Third Division Newport, has been granted a testimonial as a reward for his loyalty.

Two years ago he turned down the chance to manage his old club, Sunderland, to stay at Somerton Park and get Newport promoted from the Fourth Division and into Europe for the first time as Welsh Cup winners.

ARCHIE Stephens has every reason to paint the town red.

And that statement has more relevance to the new Bristol Rovers striker than people might imagine.

For the 27-year-old goalscoring find was a painter for Melksham council a few weeks ago before suddenly emerging as an Eastville hero with four goals in his first two League matches.

Two months ago he was an unknown Western League player with mid-table Melksham.

Now, after never having had a trial for a Football League club, he's become the scourge of Third Division defences.

Celebrated

He celebrated his full League debut after just two reserve outings with both goals in the 2-1 home defeat of Burnley having replaced local favourite Paul Randall.

Then he collected two more a week later in the 3-0 win at Reading which ended the home side's 100 per cent record.

But Archie, who was just a park player in his native Liverpool before marriage took him to Wiltshire, has taken it all in his stride.

"Obviously I've had a fantastic start, but manager Terry Cooper soon brings you down to earth and off cloud nine.

"People are now going to expect me to score every week, but I know it's not going to be as simple as that.

"It's still very early days for me and I've got a lot to learn about professional football, but at the age of 27 I'm delighted to have been given the chance."

Archie was recommended to Rovers manager Terry Cooper by Melksham boss Mike Carter after he had banged home 32 goals for his side last season.

"I went along for a week's trial and obviously Terry Cooper was impressed because he offered me terms after a couple of reserve matches," says Archie.

"I'd always nursed an ambition to be a professional footballer, particularly in my early days in Liverpool.

"It's every 'scouse's' dream to play for Liverpool or Everton, but I never really pushed myself.

"I was just content to play with the lads in park football and when I moved to Wiltshire five years ago after meeting my wife on holiday, I played in the Western League with Devizes.

"I scored 34 goals in one season and there were rumours that League clubs had been watching me, but nothing ever happened.

"At the age of 27 I had given up thoughts about playing League football . . . until I was persuaded by the Melksham manager that I was good enough.

"I made the most of my first ever trial and now I hope to have a few good years in the League."

MATCH reporter Anthony Hawkswell turns the spotlight on Aston Villa's man of the moment — 'third choice' striker Terry Donovan who admits . . .

Aston Villa's third choice striker Terry Donovan (above) is prepared to move to get regular first-team football. Left: Terry blasts the ball past Manchester United's Ray Wilkins and Arthur Albiston during their League clash at Villa Park.

I AM a 16-year-old Liverpool fan who would like a boy pen friend from anywhere in the world.
Jane Wallis, 7 Beaconsfield Road, New Malden, Surrey.

I WOULD like a pen pal who supports Stoke City and goes regularly to their matches.
Jonathon Moya, 136 Ladyfield Road, Chippenham, Wilts.

ASTON VILLA'S early season sensation Terry Donovan is ready to leave Villa Park to get regular first team football.

The third choice striker hadn't played in a Division One game for 17 months before injuries to Gary Shaw and David Geddis brought him out of mothballs.

And he grabbed his chance with both hands to set the League champions alight with five goals in as many games.

But Terry knows that unless he can keep up the prolific scoring rate he'll find himself back in the reserves.

"At 23 I've got to be ambitious for first team football. Playing in the reserves is no good for me.

"At the moment I'm in the side, but as soon as the goals dry up and Gary is fit again I'll be out of favour," admits Terry, who signed from Grimsby for £75,000 in 1979.

Manager Ron Saunders put Eire international Terry on the transfer list in the close season and although he received a number of inquiries no firm bids were made.

"I don't mind dropping into the Second Division. Anything has to be better than the reserves," he said.

Before his call up for the Sunderland game earlier this season Terry hadn't even trained with the first team for a year.

"There's no way I can complain about that. After all, Villa were top of the League and Gary and Peter Withe were scoring regularly.

"I'm happily settled in the Birmingham area and my wife has a good job here, but I'm prepared to move to get first team football.

"However, it's very difficult for me to look into the future because I don't know what's around the corner," admits Terry, who has kept his goal touch even in the reserves with 35 goals in 54 matches.

Last season was disheartening for Terry as Villa strode to the title.

"There were times when I wished I was back at Grimsby. I never felt involved in Villa's success.

"Obviously I was very pleased for the lads who won the Championship, but I wasn't part of it."

But Terry doesn't feel he made a mistake in moving to Aston Villa.

"At the time Grimsby were in the Third Division and it was a dream move for me.

'Anything's better than the reserves'

"I realised that I'd have to start in the reserves because Andy Gray and Brian Little were the club's main strike force."

Terry did get a brief spell in the first team during the 1979-80 season when he played nine League games and scored two goals.

"I was playing quite well until I hobbled off the field against Nottingham Forest after a clash with Frank Gray (now Leeds)," said Terry.

That calf injury saw him out of action for a month and he never recovered his first team place.

"The spell in the first team this season has been great for me and I've enjoyed every minute of it," says Terry.

"Instead of playing in front of 200 at Bury I find myself at places like Anfield being watched by nearly 40,000 fans.

"It's really whetted my appetite for regular first team football and that's what I desperately want now."

It'll be tough, England

ENGLAND have hardly had the ideal preparation for their challenge against the best youth teams in the world.

Apart from the fact that some of the original 18-strong party have been withdrawn by their clubs, the new-look squad has only had two weekends together.

So, by the time they open their qualifying programme against the Cameroon on Saturday, they will virtually still be getting to know each other's names!

As West Ham's 19-year-old midfield starlet Paul Allen admits: "It's not the ideal preparation, but our League system doesn't allow for any more time.

"We've had two weekends together while I understand that the holders, Argentina, who are in our group, have been together for a month.

"It's difficult to assess our chances because the majority of the players won't have played together in a competitive match until the opening game.

"But we are in a tough group. Apart from Argentina, we've got

But I hope we can at least reach the quarter-finals . . . PAUL ALLEN the host country in Australia who will be urged on by the crowds, and I gather the Cameroon are quite a good team.

"So at this stage, I shall be satisfied if we can qualify for the quarter-finals by finishing in the top two in the group.

"I think we have a fairly strong squad despite the withdrawals and we shall do our best to put up a good show."

Along with Leicester's Andy

Peake, Paul, the youngest player to appear in an FA Cup Final, is one of the most experienced players in terms of League appearances.

"I've played more games in the League than most players in the squad, but I don't think that makes all that much difference in youth football," says Paul, capped a record 22 times at Youth level by his country.

"Obviously I've picked up good habits from First Division players, but it's completely different playing in youth internationals.

"So while having League experience helps, I don't think it makes that much difference at this level.

"As captain I hope we can at least reach the quarter-finals, but I'm looking to learn things from playing against the South Americans.

"We only usually come across European players so it will be nice to compare ourselves with the Argentinians.

"It would be nice to win, but the important thing should be that the players benefit from this experience in the future."

ENGLAND'S young soccer players bid to become world champions in Australia over the next fortnight.

They are one of 16 nations competing in FIFA World Youth Championship.

Here West Ham's Paul Allen, who will lead England into action against the Cameroon on Saturday, assesses our chances.

First timers!

THIS is the first time that England have qualified for the finals of the World Youth Cup.

England, under manager John Cartwright, have been drawn in the same group as the holders, along with the hosts, Australia, and the Cameroon.

All England's matches will be staged in Sydney, beginning with a clash against the Cameroon on Saturday (Oct. 3).

They face Argentina the following Monday and Australia on Thursday, with the top two in each of the four sections qualifying for the quarter-finals.

THE GROUPS

Group A — America, Uruguay, Poland, Qatar.
Group B — Rumania, Brazil, Italy, South Korea.
Group C — West Germany, Mexico, Spain, Egypt.
Group D — ENGLAND, Argentina, Cameroon, Australia.

SCHUSTER SHOCKER

BARCELONA star Bernd Schuster will almost certainly not play for West Germany in next year's World Cup Finals in Spain.

He has had a bust-up with West Germany manager Jupp Derwall and new captain Paul Breitner.

The manager confirmed at a press conference: "I have had enough of the reactions and bad tempers of Schuster. One cannot work with people like that. As far as I am concerned the whole Schuster chapter is now definitely closed."

The break between the blond midfielder player and Derwall comes after an open row between Schuster and Breitner.

Then an article appeared in a Cologne newspaper, where Schuster was a player before his move to Spain, in which he claimed he was being persecuted by the German manager.

So, unless there is a dramatic change of heart Schuster, one of the stars of West Germany's European Championship success last year, will not be in the Finals next year.

"36 weeks to go"

Italians reduce ban on Rossi . . .

IT now seems certain that banned Italian star Paolo Rossi will be playing in the World Cup Finals next year should Italy qualify.

The Italian FA have reduced his long suspension by one month following the bribes scandal last year.

It means the Juventus striker will be back in action in March and that has delighted Italian team manager Enzo Bearzot:

"It will give him a chance to get match fit. He'll definitely play in Spain, if we qualify."

Left: Paolo Rossi — the one time banned Italian star is certain to play in Spain if his country qualifies.

Devastating Diaz!

RAMON Diaz has boosted his growing reputation as yet another bright prospect for Argentina with some impressive performances in Spain.

He scored all Argentina's goals in their 1-0 and 2-0 wins over Spanish sides Valencia and Hercules respectively.

And back home, he showed his worth with a spectacular eight-minute hat-trick against Diego Maradona's old club Argentinos Juniors in River Plate's 6-1 away win.

He has already ousted Leopoldo Luque, one of Argentina's World Cup winning heroes, from the limelight at River Plate, and with Maradona, Mario Kempes and Daniel Bertoni in the squad, the holders could have the most devastating attack in Spain next year.

You'll see the real me in Spain — Kempes

MARIO Kempes, Argentina's World Cup star in 1978, is sure he will be back on top form to help his country's bid to retain the trophy in Spain next year.

Since he returned home to River Plate from Spanish club Valencia, he has lost much of his razor-sharp scoring form.

But he said: "I know I am not actually playing to my real form, but I ask for a couple of months before I recover the form I had about two years ago."

"I feel fine and I know I can go on for another six or seven seasons. You will see the real Kempes again in Spain next year."

Kempes astonished the world with six goals in the 1978 Finals — the most by any player in the tournament that year.

WHO AM I?

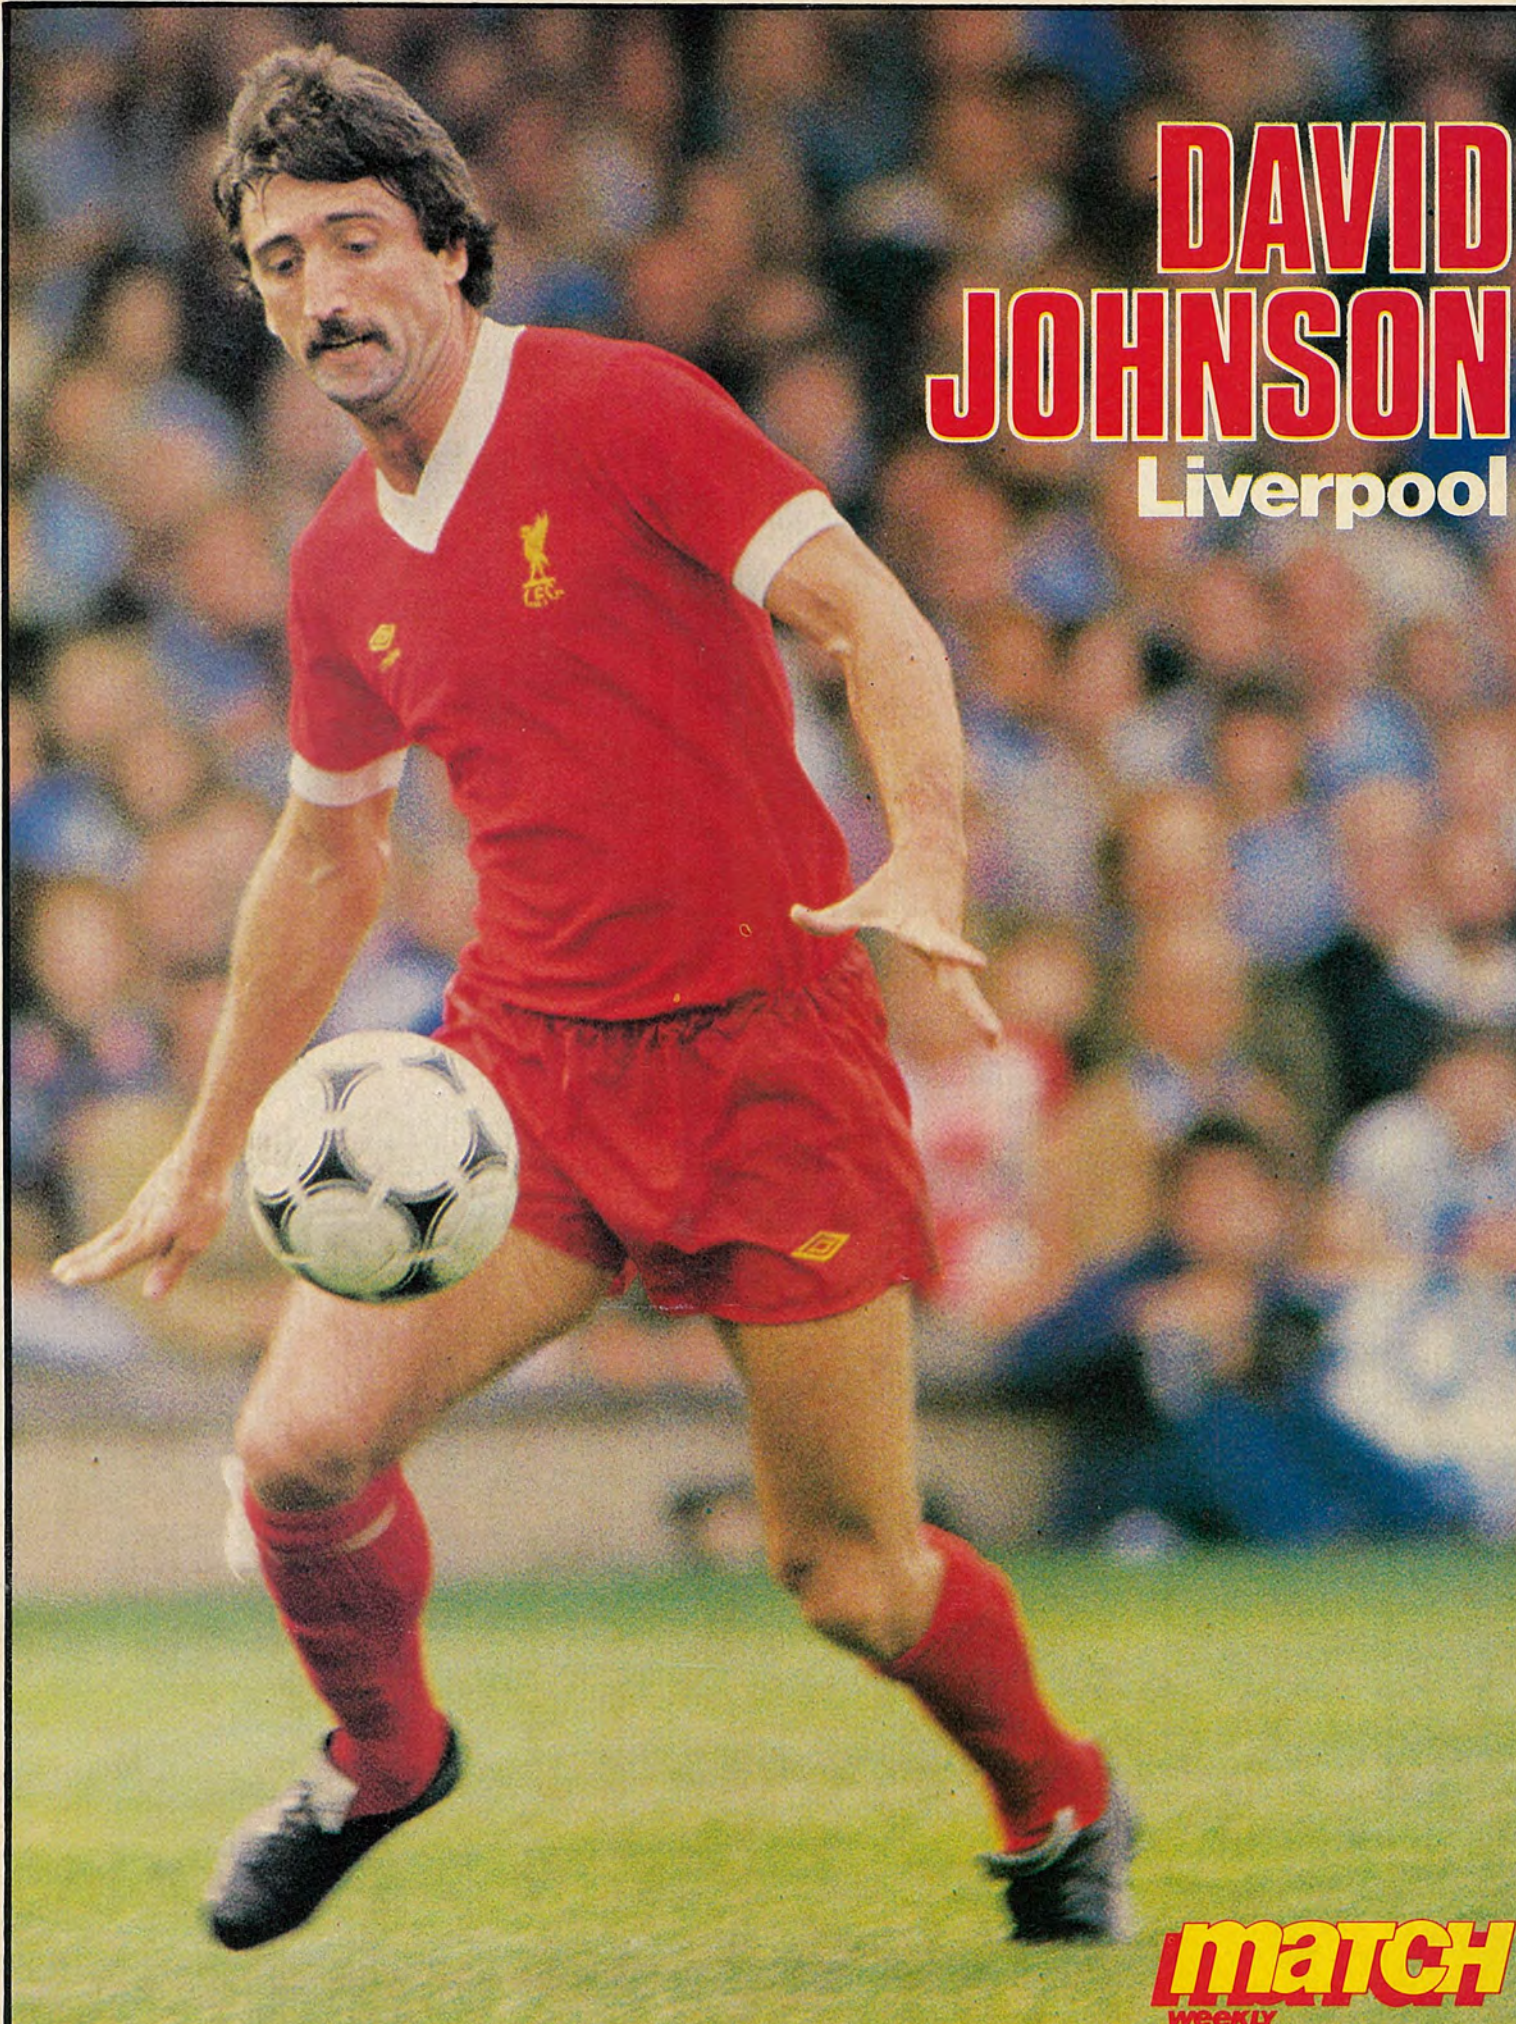

WELL, did you spot this week's mystery man?

Yes of course it's Eddie Gray of Leeds United.

If you still couldn't guess who our man was after all five clues don't worry. There will be another 'Who Am I' next week.
